REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1907.

To the School Board of Troy:

Gentlemen.—I submit herewith my report as superintendent of schools.

At the very beginning of my duties I found the high school without a principal. I immediately took charge of this school and taught it until the arrival of the new principal, Miss M. Alice Bartlett. Miss Bartlett is a graduate of Bates College and a teacher of wide experience. Under her direction the work of the school has been well done, and I feel that the town is fortunate in having secured her services at a time of the year when most good teachers are engaged.

The schools of Troy are in excellent condition. The work done is better than that of many schools of greater reputation. As a whole, the teaching force is excellent. The town has in its employ some of the best teachers I have ever known. I wish especially to commend the work done in music. I have seen music teaching in many places, and the result of my observation is that the work done in Troy is better than any I have ever found elsewhere.

Under these excellent conditions it is a pity that many of the children of Troy leave school so early in life. Bright pupils are repeatedly taken out of school to be set to work the moment the law allows. The result is that the intellectual growth of the child is stunted.

Accordingly, I take this opportunity to urge upon the parents of Troy the duty of keeping their children in school just as long as they possibly can.

I recommend that the town be asked to make an appropriation for the purpose of laying out the grounds about the high school building. The grounds should be graded, new walks constructed, grass and some trees planted, and shrubbery set out. The expense of this work would not be great and the improvement would be wonderful.

Respectfully submitted,

AUSTIN H. FITTZ.

Fitzwilliam, Feb. 22, 1907.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

In reporting the work accomplished in music during the past year, the principles laid down in a previous report have been followed in the main. The object has been to interest the child and create a love for the study, and present that which is most vital to progress. We hope to make music an influence, as a basis of culture and training in the schoolroom, and we try to explain the songs so that the meaning will be understood and appreciated by the pupils. In that way it can be made to live again in the child's mind, just as it did in the mind of the composer. Music can be made to vitalize and reinforce every other branch of study. We have the poetic thought, or the story, the rhythmic form and the fractional value of the notes, which constitutes the exactness of mathematics; also the fullest opportunities of expression written in the choicest language.

Good results can only be expected if a short time is given to singing daily, and fifteen minutes a day, will be far more fruitful than one or two half hours each week.

A child has two tones at his command, the soft fluty quality, or head voice more readily used in the upper register but which may be trained down through the entire compass, also the lower or chest quality, which is louder and coarser and which is possible to carry up to D or E flat. This latter quality is not pleasing and has a tendency to injure the voice, although it might be used with safety for a few years. It is however more pleasing to enthusiastic children, and for that reason needs constant watching and suppressing by the teacher. It will be seen by the above that we are striving for good quality of tone rather than for strength and power. This theory is worked out by starting with the descending scale with the head quality, which is carried down and invariably used in ascending the scale, no explanation is necessary to the pupil, he is simply told to sing naturally and easily.

The most progressive and thoughtful supervisors of the present day have come to think that rote singing—provided the teacher can give a good example—has a legitimate place in the earlier years of school instruction, this bears the same relation to the musical development of the child, as story telling or reading to the development of language, but the thought, work, and reading music should be the principal work.

In our first year's work we find no difficulty in teaching the children to read from the chart in three keys, by having the three scales always upon the blackboard for occasional review. They are also taught to make the notes and rests. From the second grade upwards the little singing books are used, and every new problem is taken up and carefully studied from the blackboard. From the fourth grade upwards written work is done and preserved till the end of the year, when they are made into booklets and presented the children to take home.

The pupils are trained to take an erect and natural position while singing, and the teachers strive to secure distinct articulation and purity and vitality of tone. The voices are classified as soon as the two and three part work is begun, and the pupils seem to appreciate and enjoy the harmony. From the sixth grade upwards, chromatics and minors are constantly used in the dictation work and individual singing is also another important feature in our work. Most children seem to enjoy this very much, and are anxious to secure a good mark for their efforts.

It gives me great pleasure and encouragement to work in a town, where so much interest is manifested by the teachers and pupils in the study of music, and our gratitude is extended to the committee and superintendent for their co-operation in this work.

Respectfully submitted,

LIZZIE MARIA MAYNARD.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

To the Citizens of the School District of Troy:

We have submitted in the few preceding pages a complete report of the receipts and expenditures of our school funds, our course of study revised carefully, and other details regarding the schools which it has been the custom to submit for your consideration in our annual report.

We are pleased to report a full year of active work and an attendance of scholars a little less than last year. The results of that work may not be defined as obviously as items of attendance and expenses. To the committee in charge and in constant contact with the schools, the result of thorough work and drill is very evident. We feel satisfied the expenditure of the $4,000 school money the past year in the town of Troy has borne good fruit, and is an investment worth while. The work done in the different grades, according to skilled and experienced educators, compares favorably with similar work in standard Massachusetts institutions.

The administration of the different schools has been under the same corps of teachers in the main. It is a working force the district has tested before and of whom we can be justly proud. It has been the policy of this district to retain a good teacher as long as possible and we have been remarkably successful in this.

The past year has furnished us an experience in the management of our teaching force, that was incidentally a source of much embarrassment and broke up our three highest grades for two weeks. Miss Chapin suddenly resigned her position to accept a slightly better one elsewhere — giving us less than a week's notice. Superintendent Fittz generously took charge of the school himself and tided us over the gap with a few unavoidable interruptions. As to the ethics of this act of a prominent teacher bearing on the obligations of a contract, we will not judge. It is enough to say the results were a serious interruption to the school. We have been fortunate in securing a teacher who promises well and after a reasonable time to get into the work, will fill the position to our full satisfaction. Miss Chapin was an eminently successful teacher and thorough scholar and disciplinarian. Miss Bartlett, our new principal, comes to us strongly recommended in scholarship and discipline and we are confident, with the co-operation of committee and parents, will be a success.

The work of our other teachers has continued the successes of preceding years. The pupils promoted last June showed the results of good hard earnest work, and marks were generally good.

In the department of drawing Miss Seaward has achieved good results and maintained good interest on the part of the pupil.

In the department of music, we find a pronounced improvement in the chorus singing of the schools and a good technical knowledge of the principles of music on the part of the individual scholar. We thank Miss Maynard for the good work she has done for us. The life of the whole town is favorably affected by this ability on the part of the children. In our churches, our various societies and lodges, in all our public gatherings, in our homes and every day life, music plays a big part and the children who can sing bring light into many a home and in the work of the school in chorus produce harmonies and melody that inspires and uplifts. We say, continue the good work, it pays.

The outside schools have furnished us some problems as to their maintenance. East Hill we have given thirty-four weeks under Misses Turner and Gardner.

The West Hill school has been kept twenty-four weeks under Miss Annie Fisher, until the attendance had diminished to near the vanishing point when we closed the school.

The Merrifield school has not been kept this year, the few scholars in this district have been conveyed to the village.

The school on East Hill has shown good vitality and ambition to maintain itself, an extra long school year has been kept and good results attained.

The West Hill labors under greater difficulties. The school population is sadly reduced. The attendance has averaged only about five, which is too small a number for profitable work.

The situation in the village schools is encouraging, both as to attendance and the spirit of the schools. We have suffered this winter from the universal epidemic of colds. The work has been well maintained, however, in spite of the numerous absences. We wish we could record a larger attendance of our older children. As you will remember, our supervisor in his annual report last year prophesied an overwhelming rush of scholars for the upper grades, which by 1907 would necessitate more room. We wish such a rush would materialize, as it would indicate an improvement in the matter of keeping the children in school beyond the legal age of fourteen. But so many have dropped out from this and other reasons, it seems now that the five upper grades may not exceed sixty and can be taken care of as we have done this year.

The present arrangements are far from ideal. The demand for more rooms is a pressing one and is reasonable withal. As Mr. Stearns reported, the first and second grades should be taught separately, and the upper five grades in one room suffer by the inevitable confusion of shifting classes, and discipline is difficult to maintain. We probably can get along for another year. The building, however, is used to its limit and any further increase in our scholars will mean more building.

The year has brought an unexpected event in the resignation of superintendent of schools, Henry B. Stearns. Mr. Stearns' health suddenly failed, necessitating his resignation. Mr. Stearns' withdrawal is a serious loss to the town. His long service and earnest work was of greatest value to our schools. The school boards of the towns of Dublin, Fitzwilliam, Rindge and Troy, in their meeting accepting Mr. Stearns' resignation, were unanimous in the expressions of regret and in praise of his successful work. After a lapse of about two months the supervisory district selected Mr. Austin H. Fittz, formerly master of the grammar schools in Keene, as superintendent in place of Mr. Stearns. We believe we have a first-class man who will maintain the work so successfully carried on by Mr. Stearns.

We ask your continued support in the policy of employing a supervisor. We know it pays. In the first place it really costs us nothing, our share has been $335 a year, half of which the state has paid. We have received from the state under its equalization law, nearly $400 this year and for several years past, which much more than pays the balance. It is extremely doubtful if we should receive this sum from the state if we begin pinching our appropriations.

For the coming year, to maintain our schools as we have done the past year, we shall recommend the district to raise $1,250 in addition to the amount required by law, and the town to raise $300 for books and supplies.

We ask your consideration of the article in the warrant regarding the improvement of the grounds about the village building, and the repairing of the concrete. The building itself is in good repair and serves its purpose well, notwithstanding its crowded condition. The grounds about the building are rather shabby.

Finally we ask the co-operation of our parents and citizens to maintain our schools in their present excellent condition.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANKLIN RIPLEY.

FIREWARDS' REPORT.

The department has been called out twice during the year.

July 25—To the Blanket Mills picker house at the north end which was totally destroyed; also the storehouse on the opposite of the road. The fire had gained such headway when discovered that little could be done when the department arrived towards saving building or contents. Loss about $2,000.

Dec. 22—About 11.45 p. m. fire was discovered in Peter Apwood's store in Mrs. Sarah Brown's dwelling.

Attempt was made to put out the fire with hand extinguishers, but from the inflammable nature of the contents of the store the fire quickly spread so it could not be done.

The department was called and quickly responded, and with efficient and energetic work soon had the fire under control.

The absence of a high wind and the direction of the same helped the fireman very much.

But at the same time it was a most fortunate escape from a disastrous conflagration, and the thanks of every citizen should be extended to the firemen and those who efficiently aided them in their noble work.

Troy should be proud of their fire department. They have excellent apparatus and with pipe and hydrant connections with the Blanket Mills pumps are much better protected than many of their neighbors.

Citizens, let us at all times give our firemen our hearty co-operation and help them in all ways possible in their work, and it will be time and money well spent.

We would also advise the extension of the pipe and hydrant service from School street to the north railroad bridge, also to southerly end of the common as far as may be deemed best, thereby securing a greater amount of protection and quicker service.

ASA C. DORT,
Chief.
